

Still Going Strong.....

We're working on year 11 for you , and Colin Spencer Productions is still showing our stuff with High Definition shooting and editing...where else are you going to find a full service, turn key, cost effective video production company that can hang 10 !!??

And the winner is..... It's that time of year again, when the Colorado Broadcasters Association honors individuals and station excellence within the Colorado Broadcast Industry....and for the third year in a row, we produced the awards show and kept many secrets from our colleagues.....many tried to bribe us with expensive gifts, champagne, and chocolates...but we held tight and didn't spill the beans....so now without hesitation...we can say.....Congratulations to all the winners !!!!

We will go to the ends of the earth for our clients, and the new spot for The Wildlife Experience took us to the plains of Africa...and we didn't even need our passports!! Watch for the new spot, shot completely in High Definition which will begin airing in early April and features original music, 3D animation and on camera talent.

That's a wrap....

Earlier this year you may have seen the commercial for the Colorado Garden and Home Show, we shot, produced, cast the talent, edited the spot, and were told by Jim Fricke, Director of the Colorado Garden and Home show, that this years commercial reached the right demographic resulting in another successful show.

Pocky Marranzino of Karsh|Hagan, Stacy Lewis and Chuck Gross of Sector Brands and R. Dan Magill called on us to help them with a Branding Video for COPIC Companies. It featured interviews with COPIC employees and an animated story book to help introduce a new logo and refreshed tagline.

The Mayor got up in front of our camera as we shot a video for Visit Denver. The video welcomed SportAccord to the city for their upcoming convention. Not to be outdone, we also produced a welcoming audio announcement for the convention from Governor Ritter.
