

Home About Contact

HOST COMMITTEE

AUGUST 25-28, 2008

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION

BECOME A SPONSOR

Back to Denver 2008
Convention Host
Committee

Pages

About

Subscribe by Email, Skype,
Twitter, or Instant Messenger

Subscribe by iTunes or RSS

Categories

About Denver

Cinemocracy Film Festival

DNC Preview

Events

Rocky Mountain Roundtable

Sponsors

Powered By

« Cinemocracy Film Festival: Hands
Speaker Nancy Pelosi Visits Denver's Tattered Cover Bookstore »

Come for the Convention, Stay for the Attractions and Scenery!

August 22nd, 2008

The 2008 Democratic National Convention is only a four day event, but smart delegates are planning to stick around Colorado through the Labor Day holiday.

Whether you're going to remain in the Denver area for world-class dining and nightlife, or will head to the mountains for some well-deserved R&R, the Denver Metro Convention and Visitors Bureau can steer you in the right direction.

For those that are staying in Colorado for a few extra days, check out this video for some great ideas for fun activities in and around the Rockies!

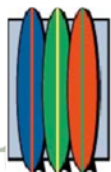

Come for the Convention, Stay for the Attractions and Scenery! [6:14m]: Download

Welcome to Denver

It was Mayor John Hickenlooper's time to welcome everyone to Denver and The Democratic National Convention, and that's just what he did in a video we shoot, produced and edited. The video featured opening remarks from the Mayor on the steps of the City and County Building, then it became a fast paced, high energy video montage of the city featuring video of the 16th St. Mall, Lodo, Santa Fe Art District, The Hamilton Art Museum and much more....the video was distributed to visiting delegates, media organizations, and featured on the DNC and Rocky Mountain News websites...and not to be out done, we recorded an audio welcome to visiting delegates from Governor Bill Ritter. The audio CD's were distributed to over 100 Denver area hotels. And knowing the Governor's busy schedule he was able to "call" the messages in and we recorded them over phone lines.....And what would a convention be without show stopping "B roll".....that's right, for the Denver Metro Convention and Visitors Bureau we edited all the city footage for distribution to visiting media.

Now, what can we do for you ??????

Colin Spencer
PRODUCTIONS